

I strongly disagree that cell phones should be allowed for general use on commercial airplanes. If the policy to allow cell phone calling throughout a flight is adopted, it would be just another reason why I would only fly if absolutely necessary. With that many people in a confined space, there need to be rules in order to assure as much harmony as possible.